

10 Great Reasons To Own A Homestead Pool

1. Quality Family Time

When you build a pool, it brings your children and family together for fun, recreation and relaxation right in your own backyard. Many lasting memories will be created and enjoyed for years to come as you're teaching your children to swim, playing with them in the pool and enjoying barbeque and a family picnic, poolside.

2. Your Own Backyard Dream Vacation

As soon as it's finished, your new pool becomes a backyard water park complete with waterfalls, water slides, volleyball for the children, while transforming your backyard into an island oasis with hammocks, fiber optic lighting and more to enhance your well deserved relaxing moments.

3. It's Party Time !

When the dog days of summer roll around a cool dip in the pool is a perfect invitation for family, friends and neighbors to stop by for barbeques, birthday parties, weddings a Hawaiian lua or that all important sweet sixteen affair.

4. #1 in Exercise

No more driving to the gym, running to the track or aerobics at the dance studio. Spending time exercising in your own pool has been shown to provide a better total body workout with a lower risk of injury. It also helps you lose weight faster.

5. Rest and Relaxation

When you get home from a hard day at the office or need to get away from the daily grind, a quick dip in your pool will help you unwind. Spending time in the water relaxes your aching muscles and relieves the stress. You may also sleep better than you ever have before.

6. Increase Your Home Value

Recent studies show that a home with a pool increases the value by as much as 15%. It also makes your property more attractive to prospective homebuyers. When it comes time to move, owning a pool may be the difference between selling your home quickly or having to keep it on the market for a long time.

7. It's Cool in the Pool

You don't have to hide indoors with the air conditioning cranked up, you can beat the summer heat by swimming or lounging in the cool water of your own backyard dream pool.

8. Who needs a Baby Sitter

With a swimming pool in your backyard, your children and their friends will have a place to play that is both convenient and safe. You'll rest easy knowing that your children are close by.

9. Save Some Money

A pool is much easier to finance and maintain than most people think. A backyard dream pool is less expensive than those many big family vacations and other entertainment options and they last longer.

10. A Lifetime of Fun

Building a pool is an investment that will reap great rewards for a lifetime. Vacations, movies, or constant visits to a theme park will all come to an end, but a pool will be enjoyed by your family, friends and neighbors for years to come. And the memories are priceless !
